

5 FREE SAT Practice Resources

1. College Board SAT Practice: <http://sat.collegeboard.org/practice/>

These are questions from the makers of the SAT themselves, the College Board. Although there are options to purchase online prep and “The Official SAT Study Guide with DVD”, there are also free sample practice questions and a ‘SAT Question of the Day’. Additionally, there is a full free SAT test, a Skills Insight Tool, and a simple personalized study plan. Also download the SAT Daily Practice App and check out the new scantron feature!

2. Khan Academy: <https://www.khanacademy.org/test-prep/sat>

Millions of people, including Bill Gates's children, have watched this popular site's online lessons. You can download and take a full-length practice test, followed by videos showing step-by-step solutions to problems you missed or found challenging. Even further, they have tutorials on the math, reading, and writing sections, where you can do hundreds of previously-unreleased problems from real SATs using their interactive exercises grouped by topic and difficulty level.

3. PWN the SAT: <http://pwnthesat.com/wp/#.U-4qJIdWSo>

At this blog, a math tutor in Manhattan shares his vast knowledge of the SAT math section. This isn't just a site for students who need math help -- it's also a valuable resource for ambitious students who want to boost their scores on the writing and reading sections. There are dozens of blogs and Q&As that you can gather tips and updates from.

4. The Critical Reader: <http://www.thecriticalreader.com/>

The Critical Reader is the site of Erica Meltzer, a New York City-based tutor and test-writer. Her site provides a great deal of free advice via her test-prep blog on the critical reading and writing portion of the SAT test. There are also dozens of exercises to improve your score on the writing section.

5. EriktheRed: <http://www.erikthered.com/tutor/>

This helpful site belongs to Erik Jacobsen, an East Coast math and physics tutor who helps students prepare for the math section of the SAT and ACT. You will find free materials to download, including quizzes, formulas, and exam strategies.
